

ScopeGuard Terms & Conditions

Effective Date

July 24, 2026

Acceptance

By using ScopeGuard, you agree to these Terms.

Service

ScopeGuard is an AI-powered tool that analyzes whether client requests appear to be within an agreed project scope and generates suggested responses.

No Legal Advice

Outputs are AI-generated suggestions and do not constitute legal, contractual, or professional advice. Users remain responsible for reviewing all results before relying on them.

User Responsibilities

You agree not to use the service for unlawful purposes, submit malicious content, interfere with the service, or violate applicable laws.

Availability

We may modify, suspend, or discontinue the service at any time without prior notice.

Intellectual Property

All rights in the ScopeGuard service, branding, and software are owned by DevAir or its licensors. You retain ownership of the content you submit.

AI Outputs

AI responses may be inaccurate or incomplete. Always verify important decisions independently.

Third-Party Services

ScopeGuard uses services such as Vercel, Google Gemini, and GitHub. Their terms and policies also apply where relevant.

Limitation of Liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, DevAir is not liable for indirect, incidental, or consequential damages arising from use of the service.

Disclaimer

The service is provided 'as is' without warranties of any kind, express or implied.

Termination

We may restrict or terminate access if these Terms are violated or to protect the service.

Changes

We may update these Terms from time to time. Continued use after changes constitutes acceptance of the revised Terms.

Governing Law

These Terms are governed by the laws of Pakistan unless otherwise required by applicable law.
